Etymology

- There are various roots of the word Nakshatra and at present, the following seems the best – nak + ksha + tra
- Nakshatra means 'Protecting during the night of destruction'; derived from –night, – destruction, – protecting.
- This is based on the roots for mantra which means protecting the mind; derived from – mind, – protecting.
- Nakshatra would mean 'night division of the sky' which would create a 27 mansion zodiac of 13°20' for each mansion.

$$27 \times 13^{\circ}20' = 360^{\circ}$$

30

Etymology

- Since the Moon is the lord of the night, it would be the lord of this night sky division called nakshatra.
- On the other hand the day division of the sky would be the rashi chakra with the sun as the overlord.
- Hora shastra would be the study of both – day and night divisions.
- Hence the name hora from aho-ratra meaning day-night and referring to rashi-nakshatra.

How to Study Nakshatra?

- Group them in different ways to understand them
  1. Navtara Chakra based on 3 Loka = 9 types repeating thrice [9 x 3 = 27]
  2. Various Types (based on fixity, softness, sight etc)
  3. Dangerous Junctions [Gandanta, Pushkara, Shoonya etc]
  4. Tattva Chakra based on 5 Tattva having 5 or 6 stars [ 5+6+5+6+5 = 27]
- Understand the symbols well
  - Drawing Chakra from Lagna, Moon and Sun nakshatra
  - Interpreting symbols with special nakshatra etc.

Notes:

1. Ganesha = Deity of Ketu and Starts the Creation cycle with No.1
2. Remaining planets in Order of Vimshottari dasha
3. Just add the individual digits of the nakshatra number, till it reduces to single digit. This will give the planetary lord based on vimshottari dasha order
4. This is the creation order starting from Ashvini nakshatra. Two other orders start from Krittika and Ardra nakshatras which is not for today's discussions
